Positive Digital Footprint

Ripples of Your Digital Footprint

An Action Online

(i.e., Posting that you won your soccer game)

How it Affects your Friends and Family/our Class/our School

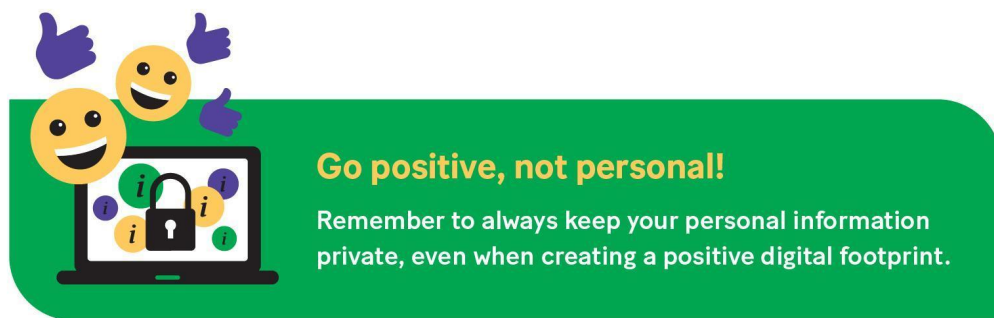

(i.e., Makes your parents proud, but they are concerned you are sharing too much information)

How it Affects your Community

(i.e., People get to know about your winning team, may want to sign up next season)

You can build a positive digital footprint by:

- Thanking people they know for doing something good, being helpful or nice.
- Telling people they know the things that they like about them, for no reason at all!
- If you have a friend or family member who shared something funny, interesting or that they need help with, you can re-share it – first make sure you have permission to do so.

Practice Making Positive Posts!

Write and/or draw a nice post below about someone in the class, and share it with them!
